Re: 11-109 Docket, Public Notice Reply Comments

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

I write to you to urge to seek solutions and provide strong leadership as the Federal Communications Commission considers LightSquared's efforts to deploy a national broadband network that can work to unleash innovation and job creation in every pocket of America.

As a veteran and the CEO of the National Foundation for Veteran Redeployment, I work to provide men and women of the military training for careers. One obstacle for our veterans, and all job seekers, is access to reliable and affordable broadband. Connecting a rural locality in Kansas, Virginia or Iowa creates opportunities for job creation, innovation and opportunity. Robust nationwide broadband is a national priority because being connected in today's economy is paramount.

I also understand that LightSquared has invested roughly $4 billion to deploy an integrated satellite-terrestrial network, which will work to lower prices, increase competition in the marketplace and, again, work towards bringing broadband access to our more rural communities.

With any game-changing effort, such as the efforts of LightSquared, there will always be obstacles. In this case, we need to find a solution where we have a capable and effective GPS community that also allows for the deployment of LightSquared's national broadband network.

I urge the Commission to pursue all necessary solutions.

Sincerely,
